A final look at child safety in the home

Childproof Your Home

This is the fourth and final article in the series of information concerning child-proofing your home. This week I wish to recap some information that I have previously presented in the question and answer form for you.

1. Q. Why are so many accidental poisonings related to children under five years of age? A. Children under the age of five are in stages of growth and development where they are constantly exploring and investigating the world around them. This is the way they learn. It is a normal characteristic and should not be discouraged. Unfortunately, what children see and reach for they put in their mouths. It is this hazard which parents must try to prevent. As the youngster's mobility, ingenuity and capabilities increase, storage of medicines and household products should be related to the age of each child. For instance, when the child is crawling, he can find such products as drain cleaners stored under the kitchen sink or on the floor. As soon as he is able to stand, he can reach such products as furniture polish on low lying tables, as well as medications in purses on beds. When he starts to climb, he can open the medicine cabinet and get into medicines. These products should be locked up where possible out of the child's reach, even when safety packaging is used. (Believe it or not, children can open the childproof bottles easier than most adults.)

2. Q. If I find my youngster playing with a bottle of medicine or some household product, how can I tell if he or she has swallowed some and what should I do? A. Reactions vary, depending or the product. Sometimes the child may vomit or he may appear to be drowsy or sluggish for no apparent reason. You may notice that the contents have been reduced or that some of the substance remains around his mouth and teeth. There may be burns around the lips or mouth from corrosive items. There may be a characteristic breath odor from items such as petroleum products. Get medical advice, even if you suspect that he has ingested a potentially hazardous product. Call your physician or the nearest Poison Control Center, which is Lynchburg. General Hospital (528-2066). Place this telephone number on or near your telephone.

3. Q. If my child is accidentally poisoned or eats or drinks a substance which might be a posion, where can I find information on treatment? A. There are presently 600 Poison Control Centers in the United States that maintain information for the physician or the public on necessary treatments of ingestion of household products and medicines. They are familiar with the toxicity or how poisonous a substance is around the home and they know how and where to find this information.

4. Q. Are there some first aid measures I can take when an ingestion takes place? A. The primary first aid objective is to call a Poison Control Center or your local physician immediately. On their advice, you should dilute or eliminate the poison as quickly as possible, maintain the victim's breathing and circulation and get medical assistance. You may wish to call your local rescue squad members who have been well trained on what to do. When providing information to the Poison Control Center, your physician or local rescue squad member, be able to give the age of the victim, the name and amount of substance swallowed. The label will help and should be saved. If the victim has vomited, save the vomitus. This will be helpful if an analysis has to be done to determine what the victim has swallowed. Fluids should not be given to an unconscious victim or one having convulsions.

5. Q. Are there any good housekeeping rules that I can use to help prevent poisoning accidents in my home? A. 1) Keep all household products and medicines out of the reach of children, preferably locked up when not in use. 2) When these products are in use, never let them out of your sight, even if you must take them along when answering the telephone or the door bell. 3) Store medicines separately from other household products. 4) Keep items in their original containers. 5) Leave original labels on all products and read the label before using. 6) Always leave the light on when giving or taking medicines. 7) Avoid taking medicines in front of children since youngsters tend to imitate grownups. 8) Refer to medicine as "medicine, not "candy." 9) Clean out the medicine cabinet periodically and dispose of unneeded medicines when the illness for which they were prescribed is over. The only way to dispose of unused medicines is to use the "flush" method. This means flush them down the commode. NEVER, EVER put medicines in a garbage can to be thrown away in a dumpster. 10) Finally, use safety packaging properly by closing the container securely after each use.

During the last four weeks I have shared with you information on how you can childproof and make your home safer for children. It is the time of year when many of us will do some spring cleaning and reorganization around our home. If you do not have your home childproofed, please make this one of your goals for the immediate future.

If you have a homemaking question or problem, you may call us at 352-8244 or write us at P. O. Box 488, Appomattox, Va. 24522.

Have a good week, homemakers!

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Lemon Chess Bars

Bottom Layer:
1 stick butter or margarine (softened)
¼ cup confectioners sugar
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
Cream butter with mixer. Add flour and sugar. Mix well. Put into 8" x 8" pan and pat down. Bake at 325° for 20 minutes.

Top Layer:
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 tbsp. flour
3 tbsp. lemon juice
Grated rind on one lemon
Beat above together. Pour over baked bottom layer. (Not necessary to cool first layer.) Bake 25 minutes or until center is set at 325°F. Cool. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Cut into bars.

These freeze well and are delicious for a party or reception.

Cancer society classification

The Appomattox County Unit of the American Cancer Society wants the citizens of this county to know other cancer or leukemia groups are not connected or affiliated in any way.

Does the Leukemia Society have any connection with the American Cancer Society? No. The Leukemia Society of America, Inc. is a national health agency engaged in "the support of research, education and patient aid concentrated only on the control of leukemia." Most of the services provided by this organization is also provided by the American Cancer Society as part of its overall service program. Its statewide office is in Hampton, Va.

Appomattox residents can contact the Appomattox Unit of ACS through Miss Claudia Gordon, unit president. The regional office is in Lynchburg on Atherholt Rd. A toll free number answer service is: 1-800-552-7996.

FFA members cited

Forty-four Appomattox Senior FFA members were awarded the Chapter Farmer Degree in ceremonies at the March FFA meeting at ACHS. This degree is the highest degree of membership that a local chapter can award its members. In order to receive the Chapter Farmer degree members must be active in FFA work, have a knowledge of Parliamentary Procedure, be able to lead a discussion and also have in operation a supervised occupational experience program in addition to other requirements.

Chapter officers, led by President Richard Jones, conducted the ceremony which presented degrees to the following FFA members: Timmy Almond, Dale Baldwin, Pete Baldwin, Warren Baldwin, David Blanks, Ricky Carter, Lisa Coleman, Lonnie Evans, Allen Farley, Mike Fee, Haven Fields, Courtney Franklin, Ricky Garrison, Timmy Garrison, John Goin, Ernest Humbles, Cecil Jacobs, Scott Jordan and Darrell Kitt.

Also receiving the Chapter Farmer Degree were Connie Krantz, Mark Lesterman, Darrell Mayberry, Kenneth Mayberry, Charles Mays, James McCormick, Malcolm Miller, Kevin Mitchell, Alphonso Moore, Lewis Napier, David O'Brien, Robert Paulette, Ray Phelps, Wayne Phelps, Mark Pierce, Dale Robertson, Noel Robertson, Sarah Simpson, Wayne Spradlin, Chuck Thompson, Ronald Thornhill, Christ Tolley, Tim Williams and Greg Wooten.
